

LABOR MEASURES IN CONGRESS HELD UP

A. F. of L. to Try to Force Passage Before End of Session, But Chance Is Slim.

Many important measures for which organized labor has been fighting this session are still pending. Friends of these bills in Congress will try in the closing days of the session to get action on the principal ones. Whether success is possible so late in the session remains to be seen.

Failure of the immigration bill, through veto of President Wilson, is a deep disappointment to the American Federation of Labor leaders. However, they are convinced that next session will see its passage.

Other measures pending in which labor is especially interested include the following:

The Boomer-Hughes convict labor bill, applicable to the domestic convict labor situation.

The Stone-Hensley convict labor bill, which applies to foreign convict-made goods.

The bill for a bureau of labor safety, a measure looked on as especially important to workers in many lines of industry.

The La Follette seamen's bill, intended to eradicate evils pertaining to the present system of involuntary servitude for seamen.

The printing bill, with its necessary reform features.

The Foster bill for a bureau of mines, intended, among other things, to increase the number of rescue stations, and to help conditions among both the coal and metal miners.

The child labor bill, which passed the House, but so late in the session that it cannot be passed by the Senate.

The bill to extend the operations of the boiler inspection law so as to provide for Federal inspections of all parts of the railway locomotive as well as the boiler.

These are the foremost of the measures in which labor is now taking active interest. It is expected most of them will fail this session and will have to be revived next Congress. If there should be an extra session, they would be actively pressed. This applies especially to the convict labor bills and the seamen's bill.

Efforts to pass the seamen's bill this session have by no means been abandoned but the opposition is intense from shipping interests.

The provision in the military bill taken out by the Senate Military Committee to abolish stop-watch systems in Government arsenals will probably be restored.

In the postoffice bill is a provision for biennial instead of annual promotions for postoffice clerks. The postoffice clerks are much opposed to this change. The American Federation of Labor is backing their opposition.

DR. PIERCE ATTACKS SUNDAY'S METHODS

"Vulgar, Vindictive, and Vituperative," Are Adjectives Used by Unitarian Minister.

"Vulgar, vindictive, and vituperative," were the adjectives applied to Billy Sunday's preaching by the Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, of All Souls' Unitarian Church, at his service last night.

During the effort to get Mr. Sunday here Dr. Pierce declined to make any comments about him. His comments last night were aroused by a recent attack made by the evangelist upon Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University.

"Our presses have been working overtime to have reprinted the address of Dr. Eliot in Philadelphia, on 'The Need of a Renewed Christianity,'" said Dr. Pierce. "There are copies here for distribution so you can judge for yourselves whether Dr. Eliot's utterances deserved the vulgar, vindictive, and vituperative language of the evangelist who is trying hard to inflict himself upon Washington."

Dr. Pierce defended Unitarianism, which has been under severe fire from Billy Sunday in his recent sermons.

"Our church has stood 100 years," said Dr. Pierce, "and is willing to stand any alliance, and keeping itself outside any ecclesiastical trust for the suppression of free and untrammelled thinking."

RABIES IS SPREAD BY INFECTED COYOTES

One County in Oregon Charges Loss of 300 Head of Cattle to Rabid Wild Animals.

The spreading of rabies by infected coyotes among cattle grazing in the national forests has assumed a grave aspect, according to a report received by the Forest Service from the district forester in charge of the forests in Washington and Oregon.

Numerous townships in eastern Oregon, it is reported, have ordered that all dogs be muzzled lest those that have been bitten by rabid coyotes develop hydrophobia and attack humans or domestic animals.

Efforts are being made by the State authorities of Oregon to stop the spread of hydrophobia by this means, and officers of the Forest Service are co-operating in attempts to kill off the coyotes. In one county alone a loss of 300 head of cattle is charged to rabid coyotes.

"YELLOW" JOURNALS GET TWO HARD RAPS

Senator Fletcher and the Rev. Earle Willey Speak About Press From Two Pulpits.

Sensational journalism was rapped from two church pulpits last night. Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, at All Souls' Church, and the Rev. Earle Willey, at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, being the critics.

Senator Fletcher spoke on "Integrity in Public Life," and in the course of his address said:

"In the lives of our public men of today, integrity is not only the rule, but it is a truth that the lack of integrity is the very rarest exception. The people who believe differently have been given their belief unquestionably by the yellow, muck-raking and sensational press."

"Poison in Printer's Ink" was the subject of the Rev. Earle Willey, who declared that "there is no poison as great as that in printer's ink." He deplored the presence of cheap literature in the hands of school children.
